Dear Ms Munsie

As you know, on 17 February 2014, a Magistrate purported to issue an order under section 246 of the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 requiring you to provide information and assistance in connection with a search warrant purportedly issued on the same day.

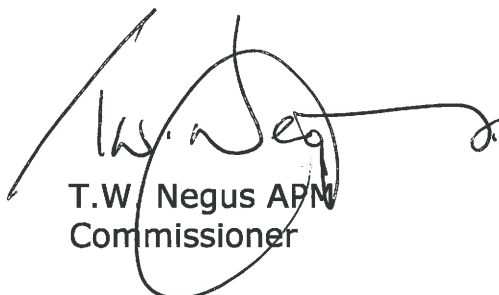

The section 246 order erroneously identified you as being "reasonably suspected of having committed the offence stated in the warrant".

On 21 February 2014, the Australian Federal Police (AFP) wrote to you acknowledging that this statement was incorrect and should not have been made.

The AFP has consistently acknowledged that you are not, and have not ever, been suspected of committing any offence.

On behalf of the Australian Federal Police, I apologise for the error and any distress it has caused you.

Yours sincerely

T.W. Negus APM
Commissioner
